Republic

14/23 March 1971
(new dates)

Businessmen, industrialists and research workers from all over the world appreciate Leipzig Fair. It is the open doorway to a stable market, and an unequalled forum for the international comparison and evaluation of all that is new and original in research and technology. The dynamic opportunities of Leipzig Fair can enable you to plan your business activities in precise relation to the current conditions of the world market. And in the technical sphere, Leipzig Fair can give you today the answer to the problems you are going to meet tomorrow. Leipzig Fair is held twice a year. Decide to save time now and arrange a visit.

East Germany

(U) LEIPZIG BECKONS IN MARCH

(U) From 14 to 23 March the annual Leipzig Spring Fair will be held in that East German city. Widely advertised as a meeting place of all the world's great manufacturers and a veritable technological bazaar, the Leipzig fairs also have the well-deserved reputation for exuding the greatest magnetism for intelligence operatives. This year the industrial spy, the agent handler, the spotter and their ilk may even chance upon Heinz Felfe, formerly the KGB's best-placed agent within the West German Intelligence Service, the Bundesnachrichtendienst. Felfe, who was arrested in 1961 and released in 1969, is reportedly working for the East German Council of Ministers in a "consultant" capacity which includes his attendance at the various East German trade fairs.
